Mitchell L. and Miriam Lewis Barnett Lecture

Sunday, March 6, 2022

Reception | 6:30 pm

Lecture | 7:15pm

Dr. Bernice Lerner

Director, Boston University's Center for Character and Social Responsibility

“The Ethics of Rescue: Stories Behind the Liberation of Bergen-Belsen”

On April 15, 1945, three weeks before World War II's end, a unit of the British Second Army entered the then largest Nazi concentration camp. Hardened military men sickened at the sight—nothing they had seen in battle came close to the depravity of Bergen-Belsen. Among the 60,000 desperate and emaciated inmates were 25,000 who would die if they did not receive immediate care. Brigadier Glyn Hughes, the Army's Deputy Director of Medical Services, committed himself to the complex and harrowing task of trying to save lives. Rachel Genuth, a 15-year-old whose parents and four siblings had been murdered in Auschwitz, was among those at death's door. Through these protagonists we will learn astounding facts about the complex liberation.

Thank you

We are grateful to the University and our supporters whose generosity has made the Holocaust Studies Program and what we do possible. With hundreds of students every year in our classes, and a large field of studies revolving around the topic of the Holocaust, we are achieving our mission of “Teaching the Past, Changing the Future.”

The 52nd Annual Scholars' Conference on the Holocaust and the Churches

About the Ackerman Center

Founded by Holocaust scholar and survivor Dr. Zsuzsanna Ozsváth in 1986 with the mission of Teaching the Past, Changing the Future, the Holocaust Studies Program at UT Dallas has earned an international reputation for excellence. The Ackerman Center has grown into a distinguished and publicly-engaged academic center that offers an in-depth view of the Holocaust, genocide, and human rights studies within a dedicated facility. Among the top tier of Holocaust research programs in the country, the Ackerman Center has five endowed faculty positions, which are complemented by additional part and full-time professors and lecturers. With the recent rise of anti-Semitism and human rights violations, the lessons of the Holocaust are more important than ever in the 21st century. By advancing a continuous engagement with the past, the Ackerman Center will be a vital part of promoting solutions to the challenges to global justice and peace in our world.

Highlights of the Ackerman Center

- Graduate and undergraduate courses
- Fellowships and scholarships
- Graduate Certificate in Holocaust, Genocide, and Human Rights Studies
- Annual Burton C. Einspruch Holocaust Lecture Series
- Public lectures, film screenings, teachers' workshops, and other events

About The University of Texas at Dallas

Founded in 1969, The University of Texas at Dallas (UT Dallas) began as a modest collection of research stations in a North Texas cotton field. Today, UT Dallas' footprint is vastly different, serving the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex and the State of Texas as a global leader in innovative, high quality research and education. Its mission is to 1) produce engaged graduates who are well-prepared for life, work, and leadership; 2) advance excellent educational and research programs in the natural and social sciences, engineering and technology, business, and arts and humanities; and 3) transform ideas into actions that benefit the economic, social, and cultural lives of the people of Texas.

The 52nd Annual Scholars' Conference on the Holocaust and the Churches

About the Conference

Founded in 1970 by Franklin H. Littell* and Hubert G. Locke*, the Annual Scholars' Conference addresses the historical significance of the Holocaust through scholarship that is interfaith, international, and interdisciplinary. The ASC provides an invaluable forum for scholars to discuss and advance Holocaust research, ensuring the valuable lessons of the Holocaust remain relevant for today's world.

The Ackerman Center for Holocaust Studies at The University of Texas at Dallas is proud to be the permanent home of The Annual Scholars' Conference.

Holocaust Studies
The University of Texas at Dallas

When Franklin Littell and Hubert Locke convened the first Annual Scholars' Conference on the Holocaust and the Churches in 1970, many deemed it the dawn of Holocaust Studies as an academic discipline. Truly intergenerational and interdisciplinary, the ASC embodies the enduring memory and testimony summoned in the systematic murder of European Jewry. Each year the ASC welcomes the world's most prominent scholars and dedicated students to engage this Event that transformed history and the understanding of our humanity.

Eternal Flame Award Ceremony

Presented by Dr. David Patterson

The Eternal Flame Award

The Eternal Flame Award is given to acknowledge individuals whose words and actions have endeavored to assure that we remember the horrific past and murder of six million Jews during the Holocaust and to build a better future for all humanity.

Previous recipients of The Eternal Flame Award include: Elie Wiesel*, Franklin Littell*, Marcia Sachs Littell, Elisabeth Maxwell*, Yehuda Bauer, Michael Berenbaum, Harry James Cargas*, Gideon Hausner*, A. Roy Eckardt*, Beate Klarsfeld, John S. Conway*, Richard Libowitz, Richard Rubenstein, Yaffa Eliach*, Emil Fackenheim*, His Royal Highness Prince El Hassan bin Talal of Jordan, Hubert Locke*, Vidal Sassoon*, Gottfried Wagner, Felix Zandman*, Peter Hoffmann, Henry F. Knight, David Patterson, Nils Roemer, Zsuzsanna Ozsváth, and Martin Rumscheidt.

This year's recipient is Abraham H. Foxman, world-renowned leader in the fight against anti-Semitism, bigotry and discrimination who regularly speaks out on issues of global anti-Semitism, the war on terrorism, church/state issues, and issues relating to the Holocaust, which he survived as a hidden child. He is a passionate supporter of the State of Israel and a voice for peace in the Middle East.

Mr. Foxman is National Director Emeritus of the Anti-Defamation League (ADL), from which he retired in 2015 after 50 years with the organization, including serving as National Director from 1987 through 2015. Upon retirement, he served as Vice Chairman of the Museum of Jewish Heritage in New York City. He is the author of several books, and co-authored Viral Hate: Containing Its Spread on the Internet.

During his long career, he had personal consultations with government leaders in Europe, Israel and the Middle East, the Far East, Latin America and Africa. He has also had multiple audiences at the Vatican, including with Pope Francis, and conferred with U.S. Presidents from Ronald Reagan to Barack Obama. A Holocaust survivor, Mr. Foxman has been a member of the President's United States Holocaust Memorial Council, appointed by Presidents Reagan, George H.W. Bush, Clinton and now Biden.
